ITEMS AT THE COURTS.

A lunking was fined $100 at the Magistracy to-day for attempting to get a letter into the goal for a prisoner. A boy who was concerned in the affair was discharged with a caution. A native was sentenced to fourteen days' imprisonment for stealing a quantity of clothing from the s.s. Paul Bear.

Two actions against G. Bortolone were mentioned in the Court of Summary Jurisdiction, before Mr Justice Gompertz, this morning. One was a claim by Messrs W.
S. Bailey and Son for $235, and the other a claim of $124.00 by Messrs Wm Jack and Co., Ltd. It was stated that since the issuing of the writs there had been a creditors' petition filed, and that this would come on at the Bankruptcy Court on the 16th inst. In these circumstances the cases were adjourned sine die.

DISMISSAL OF A GOVERNESS.

Action for Damages.

In the Court of Summary Jurisdiction,
this morning, before Mr Justice Gompertz, Miss Eve Englewood sued Mrs Lydia Prior,
of 6 Victoria View, Kowloon, for $443.50, damages for alleged wrongful dismissal
from her position as governess to defendant.
Mr Paget Hett appeared for the plaintiff,
and Mr P. S. Dixon, from the office of Mr
E. A. Harding, appeared for the defendant.
Mr Hett said the defendant had filed an application for security for costs and in support of that Mr Dixon had filed an affidavit. He (Mr Hett) wished to apply that that affidavit should be struck out.
He strongly objected to security for costs.
His Lordship—It is the usual course.
Mr Hett—Not, my Lord, if the plaintiff has been driven out of jurisdiction by withholding money due to her.
His Lordship—Rightfully or wrongfully?
Mr Hett—I suppose my friend would say rightfully. Continuing he said that defendant had no right to put on the affidavit that defendant made an offer without prejudice.
His Lordship did not think that defendant was entitled to do so.
Mr Hett said that there were other paragraphs which he wished to have struck out.
His Lordship said that Mr Hett had better come to him in chambers.
Mr Hett said if defendant succeeded his client would be in court and defendant could put her in prison.
His Lordship suggested that if the case were going to be strenuously fought pleadings had better be ordered.
Mr Hett—We have no money but defendant has.
Mr Dixon—I don't think it is a case for pleadings, my Lord.
The hearing was fixed for Monday week.

HONGKONG, FRIDAY, DECEMBER 10, 1909.

JURIES, JUSTICES AND LICENCES.

A well-known copybook heading of our youth used to read "Trial by Jury is the palladium of British liberties." We do not desire to dispute the accuracy of the axiom nor to disparage in the slightest degree a system which has, on the whole, worked so much good for the British empire. But, as the debate in the Hongkong Legislative Council on Thursday shows, there is such a possibility in this imperfect world of our having too much of a good thing. It seems that the Hongkong General Chamber of Commerce has been moved to ask for an amendment of our present local law whereby the system of trials by jury can be greatly extended and a new ordinance has accordingly been devised, which has received the approval of the Law Society, prompting this end. According to His Excellency the Governor the proposal is not approved of by His Honour the Chief Justice nor by the Puisne Judge, and the former has furnished a statement of reasons showing why, in his opinion, the suggested change in the law is undesirable. Sir Frederick Lugard, in the course of his brief speech, acknowledged that there must necessarily be some dissent to such a proposition and said the subject was so important that it would not be carried out unless there was a large majority of the community in favour of the change, while if those who opposed the scheme could show that they were representative of a considerable portion of the residents of the Colony the Government would have to consider the course that it should take.

The Hon Mr. Murray Stewart, who thought that there was no widespread demand for the suggested change, said he would be unable to vote for the bill. The smallness of the special jury roll was one of the principal reasons he advanced in opposing the scheme, and he rightly urged that busy men would have reason for serious complaint if their valuable time was further encroached upon by the extension of the present limits of special jury service. The Hon Mr. E. A. Hewitt, who represents the Chamber of Commerce, was strongly in favour of the bill and regretted the attitude taken up by the previous speaker.

Then the Hon Mr. E. O'Shaughnessy interposed with some practical remarks which, in such a discussion, are always worth very much more consideration than purely academic and abstract theorising. He said that he had been foreman of a jury which had represented to Sir John Carrington, a former Chief Justice of the Colony, the great hardship entailed upon busy men in sitting, often for many days, listening to arguments by Counsel and deciding points of law and evidence which could much better be settled by the Judge. The alteration in the law was made in consequence of a representation which the jury then made to Sir John Carrington, who advised them to send a representation to the Government regarding the hardships entailed, and to hold public meetings to protest. "Shortly after this," said Mr. O'Shaughnessy, "one of the most widely attended public meetings ever held in the City Hall took place. The meeting protested against the waste of time entailed on busy men in the Colony. The particular case we had the misfortune to try had to do with a trade mark for condensed milk and was the result of a squabble between two rival merchants. Another instance which led to the alteration of the law was a case in which a jury, of which I was one, sat the whole morning listening to points of law between the learned Counsel and we suggested that the Judge allow us to retire until Counsel decided what the law was. We were allowed to go and we have never met since." As Mr. O'Shaughnessy pointed out, it was with no desire to shirk jury-service that people objected to a change in the present procedure, it was merely that they do not see that the good achieved would be commensurate with the loss of time and inconvenience involved. After this emphatic expression of opinion, the Acting Attorney-General announced that the second reading of the bill would be postponed. For our own part we do not see that any encroachments would be made upon the privileges of the subject, if trial by jury was confined to cases wherein a person stood in hazard of life or liberty, that is, purely criminal cases. In civil cases instead of the cumbersome system of either a common or a special jury, surely the presence of, say, two Assessors, as in Admiralty cases, to advise the Judge on technical matters would be more expeditious and satisfactory. But as the matter is now before the Colony for discussion we hope some expressions of opinion will find their way to our columns from the general public in order that the Government may gather an idea of what is really wanted.

The Licensing Ordinance is again to be amended. This time the Government's suggestions are more in accordance with public wishes. No one can seriously doubt that the present rather haphazard system of dealing with liquor licenses is in need of amendment, but the first suggestion that the power of granting them be entirely taken from the hands of the Justices of the Peace and transferred to the Captain-Superintendent of Police was highly objectionable and reactionary. The new scheme is to constitute a licensing board of seven members, partly elective partly nominated by the Government, with an unofficial majority. The scheme is but the first instalment of a wide reaching plan to bring about an improvement in the public-houses of Hongkong. Indeed, the Governor hopes that it will lead to such a reform as to render it feasible to place some or all of the public houses under a trust, the profit, if any, to go to the improvement of the public-houses. A manager could be placed in charge of each house, with a fixed salary, so that he would have no personal interest in the sale of the liquor.

We are afraid that much water will run under the bridge ere this scheme can be carried out. We have no desire to be little any attempt to bring about a reform along the lines desired by Sir Frederick Lugard. Indeed, such a consummation is most devoutly to be wished. But we do not see where the money is coming from to finance such a scheme. There is not very much money made, now-a-days out of the public-house business in Hongkong, and we are afraid that there are very few philanthropists in our midst who are prepared to put up the money to start the Gothenburg system here. The special committee which reported on the subject to the Council at a previous meeting, spoke of eight per cent. being returnable on the capital, but we sadly fear that their calculations are far too optimistic. Still for the present, this is neither here nor there; what Hongkong is for the moment considering are the preliminary steps towards reforming the licensing system and from all we can hear the Government has set about the new scheme in a thoroughly acceptable manner. The Licensing Board will be a distinct advance upon the present happy-go-lucky system and hence deserves all support.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

The French Mail of the 9th November was delivered in London on the 9th inst.

Canadians resident in Japan recently held a meeting at Yokohama and decided to form a Canadian Club in Japan.

The Straits Times announces the death of a military officer who "arrived in Singapore with his regiment, from Bolarum, in January, 1868."

We have received a sample of Messrs Weismann's latest preparation in the form of Nougat, and can recommend it to those who appreciate sweets. It is decidedly good and should command a large sale.

The Chinese Engineering and Mining Company, Limited, report that the total output of the Company's three mines for the week ending 27th November amounted to 24,064.83 tons and the sales during the period to 30,929.05 tons.

The offerings in St. John's Cathedral on Sunday next, December 12th, will be given to the funds of the local Church Missionary Association. The preacher at Matins will be the Right Rev. Bishop Tingham, Secretary of the Church Missionary Society, and the Bishop of Victoria will preach at Evensong.

The Hongkong agency of the Compagnie des Messageries Maritimes forward us a beautifully-produced booklet devoted to describing by letter-press and pictorial illustrations the magnificent, yet so little known temples of Angkor. It is pointed out that from Hongkong the crossing only takes three days, and that there is a fortnightly service of big steamers by the Company.

In Java, the news that Halley's comet is at hand has made no small stir among the ignorant natives. Uneducated people fancy that the appearance of a comet is a bad sign as being the forerunner of misfortune. The current opinion among the Javanese is that great evil will befall one of the two native rulers in that island the moment the comet appears.

The Rev. G. Currie Martin and Mr. F. H. Hawkins started from London on Nov. 12 to visit all the London Missionary Society's stations in China with a view to reorganisation. It has been felt by the directors of the Society that the present is a critical time in regard to the future of the work in China. The deputation will be absent about six months.

Mr. Asquith, in the course of his speech at the Guildhall Banquet, paid the following tribute to the late Prince Kiu: "I am glad to be able to refer in the presence of His Excellency the Japanese Ambassador to the spontaneous manifestation and spontaneous association of the Government and people of our allies in Japan on the untimely and tragic death of one of their most illustrious statesmen. (Hear, hear.) To few men has been given in so large a measure as to Prince Kiu the witness of visible and permanent results of patriotic and unselfish action, and I make a prediction which runs no risk of being falsified when I say he will always find a place among those rare men whose history honours as the architects of great nations." (Hear, hear.)

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

Mr. Warr has been appointed Provost of King's.

Lieutenant H. H. Harwood has been appointed to the gunboat Bramble, China Squadron, for duty. Lieutenant Harwood has served in the Royal Navy since 1904.

Lieut.-Col. Hawke, commandant of the 90th Deccan Infantry, now stationed at Singapore, died of apoplexy in the Red Sea on the outward voyage of the N. D. L. Buslow.

The Admiralty announces the appointment of Sub-Lieutenant N. R. Peppoe to the Tamar, additional for the Whiting, and of Asst. Paym. H. W. Woodward to the Clie, in charge.

Sir Robert Hart is going to China by the sea route, for the journey will, he hopes, benefit his health. Lady Hart will join her husband in China. She will travel overland by the Siberian railway.

Lord Kitchener's future position is not quite determined. Just before the Commons were prorogued, Mr. Haldane, answering questions put by Mr. Faber, said he was at present unable to say whether Lord Kitchener would be under the War or Colonial Office. The matter would be settled when Lord Kitchener assumed command, probably in May. Mr. Haldane was also unable to state whether the Governor of Malta or the High Commissioner would occupy the Palaces of St. Antonio and Valetta, or whether the Governors of Malta and Gibraltar would continue to represent the sovereign in the respective commands.

THE MORTGAGE CASE.

Before Mr. J. R. Wood, at the Magistrate's Court this afternoon, the application of Mr. Shenton for the discharge of Lam Fuk Chiu, who was remanded on Wednesday on a charge of being concerned with three others, by means of false pretences, of obtaining from Mr. John Hastings the sum of $24,000 with intent to cheat and defraud was continued.

Mr. F. B. L. Bowley, Crown Solicitor, appeared on behalf of the Crown.

His Worship: The prosecution now stands in the title of your office, the King represented by the Crown solicitor.

Mr. Bowley: Yes, your worship.

Mr. Shenton: I submit that that cannot be so on the authorities. As your Worship has already seen from the Hongkong ordinances there must be an informant or complainant or prisoner must be represented by a solicitor. The position then put forward by Mr. Bowley is that he is representing the Crown as informant.

Mr. Shenton continuing said that the Crown was represented before the court as the informant or prosecutor and he submitted that could not be so for the reason that the court in which his worship sat, was a court delegated with certain powers by the Crown itself. It appeared to him that it was impossible for the crown to come into the court as a common informant. There was a proper procedure to be followed when there was no informant, that was as an officio informant. He had been unable to find any authority for the procedure which his friend wished to adopt. He submitted that the original could not be strained and he must point out his Worship was bound to discharge prisoner.

His Worship: I think it is my duty to hear the evidence offered by the Crown Solicitor and I will send him a notice to appear.

Mr. Bowley: The Crown does not appear as a common informant. The information is said by Mr. John Hastings.

Mr. Shenton: I should like your Worship to take a note of that—that there is no common informant before the Court.

His Worship: Yes.

Mr. Shenton applied for bail.

His Worship: What amount of bail?

Mr. Shenton: There must be a reasonable amount; the man is not wealthy and probably $20,000 would do.

His Worship:—Will you accept $20,000?

Mr. Bowley: Yes, your Worship.

The case was remanded until the 20th inst.

PROPOSED EXTENSION OF PEAK TRAMWAY.

At a meeting of the Public Works Committee held on December 2nd, the Chairman stated that he had been asked to obtain the opinion of the Public Works Committee on the point whether the extension of the Peak Tramway to Queen's Road on the slopes along Garden Road is a desirable improvement in the public interest.

The members were unanimously in favour of the extension, but, after some considerable discussion, they decided that the question of the extension was a difficult matter to come to an opinion about with so few facts before them. They stated that the least objectionable form of extension, if there were no better means of carrying the train line, should be adopted, but that as regards the form the line should take from the nullah to the Queen's Road, further details should be supplied before the Public Works Committee be asked to express an opinion as to the desirability, or feasibility, of one system or another. They did not, however, think the vicinity to the Cathedral should prevent the extension of this line by means or any to the form of supports that might be decided upon.

The Board of Directors, members and friends of the Chinese Y.M.C.A. are welcoming Mr. and Mrs. Lerrigo on Saturday evening at a reception in the rooms of that Department. A short programme will include musical numbers by the Y.M.C.A. Band, European and Chinese music, and coming addresses followed by tea and refreshments. Mr. B. Wong Taps, the President of the Association, will preside.

COLDS ARE DANGEROUS.

If more people would make an attempt to get rid of the colds from which they are suffering, as a result of this changeable weather, there would be a decided decrease in the number of cases of pneumonia. A few doses of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy will cure your cold and all danger of its hanging on until spring and all danger of pneumonia may be avoided. For sale by all chemists and druggists.

PORTUGUESE CONSUL
"AT HOME."

In honour of His Excellency General Sir Joaquim Machado, who left today for the Nippon Maru for Yokohama, the Consul General for Portugal and Brazil, and Madame Ladeira, held an "at home" at their residence "Duarte" on Thursday afternoon. There was an attendance of many hundreds and a thoroughly enjoyable time was spent. In the early part of the evening dancing was included in the programme.

His Excellency was accompanied by Senhor Cinatti, assistant commissioner, and General Norton, secretary to the Consul. General Machado will confer with the Wal-wu-pu at Peking with regard to the Macao delimitation question and finally he believes that China will readily recognise the claims of Portugal as just as sound as those of China. His Excellency by his visit to Peking is thus using his best endeavour to settle the whole question without having to submit it to arbitration.

In the evening the members of the Portuguese community met at the Club Lusitano to bid farewell to His Excellency General Machado, and to present him with an address. There was a very large attendance and the band of the Philharmonic Society was present. The Right Rev. Bishop D. Estanislau, Consul General for Portugal and Brazil, and Mr. E. R. de Almeida e Castro, president of the club, presented His Excellency with a Portuguese flag which His Excellency handed to the captain of the Nippon Maru as it is up to the mast head.

Several of the committee of the Lusitano Club accompanied His Excellency General Machado and Captain Norton on board the Nippon Maru to tender a last farewell and Mr. Leo D'Almada e Castro, as president of the club, presented His Excellency with a Portuguese flag which His Excellency handed to the captain of the Nippon Maru as it is up to the mast head.

THE CYCLOPS ROW.

The case in which four Chinese excise officers were charged with assaulting tally-men engaged on the s.s. Cyclops was resumed at the Magistrate's Court this afternoon. Mr. H. G. Gedge was for plaintiffs and Mr. M. L. Shenton for defendants.

Mr. Gedge asked that Mr. Wodehouse be recalled with regard to the police regulations.

Mr. Wodehouse was then recalled.

Mr. Gedge: As an officer of the police force why did you not act according to the regulations? It has already been explained that this was not a police identification. It was not in accordance with the regulations.

You told up that the Captain Superintendent of Police told you to conduct the identification—I told you that the Captain Superintendent of Police told me off to attend it.

His Worship:—You did not consider it a police identification?—I did not consider that I was in charge of it.

There was no communication that you should conduct the identification.—That is my reason.

Mr. Gedge:—The C. P. S. thought it better that an officer should attend it. Yes, why did you appeal to me that I should know one from the other—the excise officers and others?—Because I thought you were in charge of it.

You mean to tell me you never hold an identification before a charge is made?—Well, yes.

Why did you say there was no charge against the men?—I was not aware of any charge. I have already said I did not know for what purpose the identification was for.

You thought a solicitor for Messrs Butterfield and Swire was in charge of this identification? That is your excuse?—I did.

Don't you now, after mature consideration, consider that the C. P. S. having ordered you to conduct the identification, that it affected men who were more or less policemen—excise officers who put the law in force—that it would have been better if it had been conducted in accordance with police regulations?

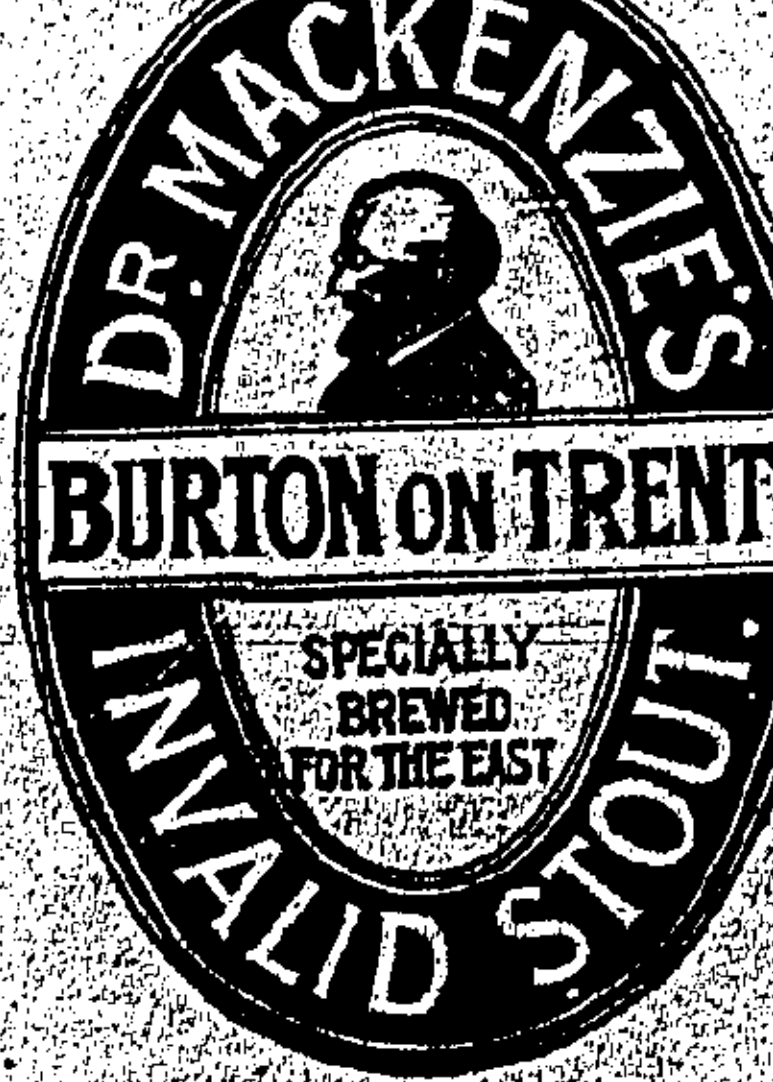

Why did you not do so?—Because I was not in charge.

You thought a solicitor for the prosecution was in charge. That is the most novel excuse I have ever heard in this court.

His Worship:—Have you not led to a prosecution?—Not that I remember.

Evidence was then called and Mr. Shenton objected to Mr. Gedge cross-examine one witness with regard to what had passed between him and Mr. Shenton.

Mr. Gedge submitted that he could and asked "you had better read some book on cross-examination."
